Engage at ICANN

Issues discussed at ICANN affect your business

ICANN's work ranges relates to a broad range of Internet challenges, including policies on generic names that affect your network configuration and your brand or business practices online. Let your voice be heard on the issues that affect your business.

ICANN is open to everyone

You can tailor your participation to your needs. Remote participation is available in several languages at all ICANN's Public Meetings. Issues open for Public Comment are listed on our website for all stakeholders to provide input.

Take advantage of our multistakeholder model

Not only is ICANN open to everyone, everyone participates on equal footing. This makes it a unique place to interact with and learn from representatives from different sectors such as academia and government.
